[4] The sailors who remember
 The gales of ninety six
 Still shake their heads as they recall
 The devil's bag of tricks
 The fury of the tempest
 Lashing ev'ry boat in sight
 One thing alone to save them
 'Twas Katie Walker's light!

[5]
 One horrid night a schooner
 Ran headlong on the reef
 The master and his gallant crew
 Cried desp'rate for relief
 Soon Katie's in her rowboat
 Heading out thru ice and fog
 To save each struggling schoonerman
 And the Captain's scottie dog!

[6] Thirty years have passed - the time has come
 For Kate to live on shore
 And it breaks her heart to realize
 That the light is hers no more
 But the keeper who succeeds her?
 Well she knows he'll do it right -
 It's Kate's own son who'll be taking care
 Of Katie Walker's light!

[7] Kate's light today as in the past
 Guides mariners from the shoals
 But the keepers and their kind are gone
 Those brave and hardy souls
 So let's drink a toast to Katie
 And her nights on Robbins Reef
 And thank her for devotion
 That's almost past belief!
