Maureen was one of the fine teachers of Irish music who graced the New York area in the 1970's and 1980's. She was a talented performer on several instruments and many of her students - in New York and in Ireland - owe their excellence to Maureen's patience and teaching skills. (Maureen was married to the legendary Johnny Cronin until he passed away - Mrs. Black and I were at the wedding in Johnny's home town of Gneeveguilla, Co. Kerry - and I well recall playing a couple gigs with Johnny and Maureen in a place called 'The Breffni' somewhere in Queens. As they say, God be with the days!)
